EXTRACT

FROM THE SPEECH OF

Hon. Montgomery Blair, Frederick, Md., June 16th., 1866.

"Another characteristic trait in this attainder (Howard amendment,) marks its origin. It comes from a body of legislators who exclude the representation from the States entitled to sit with them—who are most affected by it, and for whom it provides continued exclusion, that they may themselves establish a party monopoly in the legislation of the country over which they have extended monopolies of trade and manufactures, which this scheme of conquest over the South, in its political aspect, is designed to perpetuate; and to effect it they offer an immense bribe to the mass of the people of the South to assist in putting on their fetters. If the Southern people will make a hecatomb of all the men who have ever been honored with their confidence, or who have been honored by the confidence of the National Government, by being called to office, high or low, from the South, and give in adhesion to the article proposed in Congress, excluding them from their rights of eligibility under the Government, then Congress will postpone a levy of taxes on the respective States, consenting to the immolation of that great body of citizens who have in all past time been and are now most favored with their love and confidence. It is really a very little sacrifice these Radicals make in surrendering the right of taxing these States for ten years, if, at the same time, they get a riddance of all the statesmen, orators, and experienced public men who live in the south, in the halls of Congress.

They might well consider this as a guaranty of all the privileges, bounties, drawbacks, and indirect taxation which they may maintain or impose hereafter on a people who surrender their strength and submit to be bound for a bribe! Besides, they know that if the South should refuse to take the bribe, and vote against the bribe tendered, it will keep them without representation in Congress, which is the main desideratum they have in view; and in this case they cannot hope to extort taxes from a people not represented, and from among whom they exclude tax-gatherers, by the imposition of an oath they have contrived on purpose to exclude every Southern man from assuming the duty. Do they expect to send citizens from Northern States to perform this function? New England must then follow the example of Old England, and send an army with her tax-gatherers into the South to assist in this duty.—Does she suppose that Pennsylvania and New York will join in the scheme of enforcing taxation without representation? Will the great Northwest, whose people pour their productions down their streams through the channel of the Mississippi to the South, and carry with their intercourse their kindred affections, generated by race and interest, enter into a conspiracy to oppress and ostracise those in whose prosperity they are mostly deeply concerned?—They know that the highly-gifted representative men of the South—whom the constitutional article of attainder is proposed to disfranchise, and, as a consequence, to suffer banishment and confiscation—for they live where they are to be disgraced—have ever been, until the late frenzied outbreak, in unison, heart and hand, in every crisis, with the tier of great States between the Hudson and the Mississippi, which constitutes the heart of the Union. At the birth of that New England party that made the English monarchy its prototype, the South, with Jefferson at its head, stood with the Central States against the Essex Junto aristocracy, which, with its counterpoise of twelve Senators, out weighed the political importance of the middle region and sought to dictate to it. In the war of 1812 the South was still its support, and in all its struggles for the extension of empire South and West. In the Jackson era, and in subsequent political conflicts, the South was the unwavering ally of the popular party of the middle region, which held the balance of the Republic. It was not until the negro question, which so deeply involved the pride as well as the interests of the South, that it parted from its political moorings. And was it altogether the fault of the South that it was brought to the alternative which led to its departure from liberal principles? It was the cupidity of Old England and New England that forced slavery upon the reluctant South, and which united in urging on the catastrophe which has ultimately crowned it with ruin. Providence has visited on its head a retribution which, in some degee at least, should redeem it from its sins; and since the trial to which it appealed, upon the political principle on which it relied for vindication, has gone against it, has not the South complied with all requisitions for which the war was urged? And has it violated a single stipulation on which the armies surrendered in the field and the peace was made? Neither the great Northwest, nor Pennsylvania, nor New York requires negro equality, negro suffrage, the negro Bureau, or anything but negro emancipation, under the protection it has always had of the laws and Constitution of the States and of the United States.

Nor is it fanaticism. It is ambition and avarice combined in the monopolies of New England which reigns in the Rump Congres, and assumes a dictatorship in its caucus committee that has made these issues, and has concentrated them all in the conditions imposed on the South in the so-called constitutional amendment, which means nothing but the exclusion of the South from the Union, until the authors of it can be re-elected to Congress, and bring about the election of a President under a mutilated minority Government, to enforce all the schemes to which the caucus has given birth, with a new progeny of guaranties to perpetuate the rule which the minority States have established in the shape of a Constitution against the will of the majority.

But will not the whole nation insist upon its right to vote on these issues in the elections which are to fix its destiny forever? Will there not be candidates for Congress in every election district in the United States? Will there not be candidates for President and Vice President in all the States to test the will of the whole people on these issues? There will certainly be a candidate for the Chief Magistracy in all the States, North and South, pledged to maintain the rights of every State to representation in Congress. If a majority of the people should vote for such candidate, and a minority of the people should vote for a candidate to give effect to the will of the excluaionists pronounced by this Congress, to which would the reins of the Government be committed? Mr. Stevens and his Caucus Junto would insist that their law prevailed over the Constitution, and so we should have two Presidents and enter on the Mexican career.

The nation must perceive that our Rump Congress is hatching an embryo revolution, and by bringing in the national debt as a stake in their constitutional amendment, seek to embark the capitalists in their cause. The capitalists will, if they are wise, rely on the Constitution as it is, the laws as they are, and the public faith as it is plighted, rather than on the tinkering of Thaddeus Stevens and his revolutionary coadjutors, for the safety of their investments."

FOR GOVERNOR,

JONATHAN WORTH,

OF RANDOLPH.

First of July.

Quite a number of our subscribers have paid up to the 1st. of July. We hope all will renew promptly by that time. Look out for the cross mark.

Messrs Eato[illegible] Ferebee.

There is an unprovoked attack made upon the above gentlemen in the last issue of the Radical organ of this City. T. R. Caldwell, Esq., the Holden appointee to the Presidency of the Western N. C. R. Road, is now, after nearly twelve months' trial, called by the Radical organ "the able and indefatigable President of the North Carolina Railroad." Fortunately for the State, he was not made President of the North Carolina Railroad. That great interest, we are glad to say, has not been so badly managed nor so nearly bankrupted as the Western N. C. Railroad.

No better evidence of Mr. Caldwell's incapacity to manage a Railroad need be required, than that, after nearly a year's experience, he seeks to borrow only $50,000 for the Railroad, and fails. What does he want it for, except to pay balances due himself, and other officers and employees of the road, and which the bad management of the road renders it unable to pay? Now we say this, not in any spirit of unkindness, personally or politically, to Mr. Caldwell, but simply to state what we learn to be facts, and to justify the course pursued by Messrs. Easton and Ferebee, who have been held up to the Western people as inimical to their interests.

We say that Mr. Caldwell wanted only $50,000, and the credit of his Road was not sufficient to obtain it in New York. He then comes to the Convention, in which his particular partizan friends predominated, and of whom he is reputed to be a leader, and after a thirty days' session, finding his proposition to be rather ignored, it is put off to the last hour of the session, when there were not fifty of the one hundred and twenty members present, and he proposes then to be allowed to borrow $50,000 upon the credit and faith of the State. Messrs. Ferebee and Eaton very justly opposed the proposition. Why? Was it because they were opposed to Western interests? The charge is made by those who know better. We venture the assertion, that if the question, with all the facts, had been submitted to the people of the Counties through which the Rail Road runs three-fourths of them would say, No! Neither of those gentlemen have ever shown any hostility whatever to their brethren of the West. Col. Ferebee, especially, has uniformly supported every feasible measure for the improvement of the West. He is one of the last men in the State who can be justly charged with hostility to the West. Liberality to all sections has uniformly marked his course, and Mr. Eaton, we believe, has shown the same spirit.

The bare-faced statement that if the proposition had been to benefit the constituencies of Messrs. Eaton and Ferebee, they would have urged no objection arising from the circumstances, is wholly unfounded. The author of that charge knows that there are not two more honest, high-minded men in the State, who utterly discard more all selfish or sinister motives in their action, than Wm. Eaton, jr., and D. D. Ferebee.

In this case, if Mr. Caldwell had satisfied those gentlemen that the proposition was a necessary and proper one, and had brought forward the motion in full session, they would most cordially have supported it. But the Convention had just adopted an amendment to the Constitution, requiring, hereafter, that the Legislature, in all cases, shall sanction appropriations of public money, or, which is the same thing, incur pecuniary risk, only by a vote of the majority of both Houses, and after the bill has been read and the yeas and nays called upon it three times. How could they, or any one, after that, vote in Convention to authorize a loan on the faith of the State, when there was not a quorum present—nay, not more than fifty members, if that, out of one hundred and twenty?

Minister to San Salvador.

Ex- Gov. Holden left this City, on yesterday, for Washington. As yet the Senate has not acted upon his nomination, but we are glad to learn, from the Intelligencer, that his appointment will be confirmed. President Johnson has not made a more popular appointment since he has been in office.

Giving no Credit.

When we fail to give due credit to a cotemporary for an article inserted in the Sentinel, it is purely an inadvertence. We presume our cotemporaries fail to give credit to the Sentinel, for the same reason, and therefore we have not complained. We observe, however, that no credit has been given to us or to our reporter for the captions of the ordinances, &c., of the Convention, which were furnished only for this paper.

The War in Europe.

The steamship Java that arrived at New York on Tuesday, with advices from London to the 17th., brings intelligence that active hostilities have been inaugurated by a declaration of war upon the part of Prussia and the invasion of Saxony by Prussian troops. Doubtless before this a collision has occurred, and the curtain has risen upon perhaps the bloodiest tragedy that Europe has been the scene of since the days of the first Napoleon.

Of the belligerents, Austria, which appears, by the way, to have acted thus far with great moderation, heads the list in apparent strength. With a population of 35,000,000, she is raising an army of 900,000 men. The active peace establishment of the empire consists of 264,000 men; so that whatever forces may be put into the field at the present time, it will have a large body of drilled veterans, and but few raw troops, so far as familiarity with discipline is concerned.

Prussia, whose population is between eighteen and nineteen millions, has a regular peace establishment of 210,000 men, which is arranged on the basis of a war army of 750,000.

Italy, with a population of 22,500.000, has a regular army of 375,000 men. With the reserves all filled up, this force would become 430,000 men, of whom about 200,000 are believed now to be in the field.

These will be the original combatants of the war. What others may be brought in ultimately is a matter for conjecture. Unless other powers should become involved, we do not anticipate a protracted conflict, though it will probably be desperate and sanguinary. The nature of the country on the continent does not admit of long-continued or sustained operation; and, besides, the military policy in Europe, of late years, has been to stake the issues of a struggle upon a few grand and decisive engagements.

As to the merits of the controversy, the quarrel, as between Austria and Prussia, had its origin in the spoliation of Denmark, and out of a disagreement as to the division of the spoils comes now this general European war. The implication of Italy is produced by a natural desire to regain its territorial integrity in the recovery of Venetia from Austria. The effort to induce Austria to surrender it for a territorial equivalent somewhere seems to have been at the bottom of the Peace Conference proposed by the neutral powers, and which was so signal a failure.

A GENEROUS and ingenuous rivalry in a good cause is at all times a beautiful and a commanding spectacle. The Horatii and the Curiatii, in Roman story, to save the effusion of blood, took upon themselves the decision of the wager of battle. It was a common thing in either army, during the late war, for fifty men to volunteer for a perilous duty, when only two or three were required. It is by no means rare for at least twenty briefless attorneys to offer their services in behalf of a defenceless culprit,—not so much, perhaps, for the sake of humanity, as from an innocent desire to bring themselves before the public.

The correspondent of the New York Tribune, who reported for that paper the proceedings of our State Convention, now happily defunct, records an instance of patriotic emulation occurring in that body, which combines all the elements of the lofty and the heroic, and which deserves to be commemorated in song and story. Thus it gives the inspiring narrative:

"I send you the following characteristic and patriotic speech of Thomas Settle, of Rockingham county, who, with R. P. Dick, of Greensboro', and Dr. E. Grissom, of Granville, are known as the most promising young men of the State, and whose influence is potent in favor of the Union cause. In the debate of yesterday on the Stay Law Bill, a Rebel member—who, by the way, is in a sad minority—indulged in many accusations against the Union men "who would tarnish the fair fame of North Carolina by repudiation, and he thanked God that at the last session he had not voted for the ordinance prohibiting the payment of the war debt."

This language certainly merited a reply, and the three Union members above cited were instantly on their feet,—Mr. Settle, however, catching the Speaker's eye first, while every hitherto listless member gave earnest attention."

What a scene for the painter or the poet!—The impetuous ardor of these three "most promising young men in the State," rising "instantly on their feet," and each endeavoring to catch the Speaker's eye, that they might hurl their thunderbolts of wrath upon the head of this audacious but devoted "rebel," is surely grand. The moral sublimity of the eager rivalry is enhanced, too, by the fact that two of the number sought so fitting an opportunity to atone for their own former derelictions by this "instant" patriotic zeal. What if both had been erewhile Captains in the Confederate army? Here was a "rebel" to be mashed, and would not that expiate their guilt? Thus Falstaff sought to wipe out the stigma of cowardice by stabbing the dead body of the gallant Percy, and claiming that it was he who killed him!

Unfortunately for Mr. Settle, he "caught the Speaker's eye." No wonder that every "listless member gave attention." Sentiments such as Captain Settle uttered upon that occasion were calculated not only to fix the "attention," but to astound and to startle. We would not be the author of some of the declarations in that speech for ten times the amount of the debt that Capt. Settle, late of the army, was prominently instrumental in having repudiated. He will, himself, yet see it in that light,—but "he caught the Speaker's eye," he is on record, and he will be held to it!

WE WOULD direct attention to the article from the Petersburg Index, in another column, giving a minute account of Venable's Snuff and Fine Cut Factory in that City. We are always gratified to record such evidences of growing enterprise in the South.

The recent elections in Oregon and Washington Territory show considerable Democratic gains, and the same appears to be the case in Nebraska and Illinois.

Atlantic and N. C. Railroad.

We learn that, on yesterday, at the meeting of the Stockholders of this Road, at Beaufort, the following gentlemen were elected Directors by a large vote of the Stockholders: John C. Washington, Dr. Jas. B. Hughes, Jno. D. Whitford and George C. Green.

We learn, also, that, at the meeting of the Directors, John D. Whitford, Esq., of Craven, was elected President. Without, in any way, disparaging the claims of others, we are gratified at the election of Mr. Whitford. We are of the opinion that the building of the Road, and the large amount of stock subscribed by Craven County, were largely due to his efforts. It is also patent, that few men in the South have a higher reputation, as Railroad managers, than Mr. W. If long service as President of the road, and a unanimous endorsement of his ability and fitness by the Stockholders at its annual meeting, at the time of his removal at the instance of the Provisional Governor, entitle him to the position, the Stockholders have certainly done their duty in restoring him.

We deprecate much the unfortunate differences which exist between the Carteret and the Craven interests on that Road. We certainly cannot be mistaken, when we express the hope, that the new Directors will feel in honor bound to protect and promote alike the interests of every County and community on that Road, and that their policy will be so just and liberal as to remove all sources of discord.

Has or has not Secretary Seward heard very extravagant and painful reports in regard to one of our South American Ministers (Kilpatrick?) The private vices or follies of men are their own unfortunate property, for which they can properly only be held accountable to their Creator and their immediate families. But for a minister of the United States to veil with his official diplomatic cloak the scarlet robes of a publicly abandoned woman, and to officially introduce her through consular agencies into private American and other families, thus making a notorious Aspasia the recognized companion, until discovered, of virtuous women! Such conduct in a private citizen would justify the horse-whip, and in a minister offers good ground for an instantaneous and ignominious recall.

Nor was the case bettered by this poltical military diplomat's apologies to the families he had thus outraged, on finding that the woman's open profligacy had become known and that she had set up on a public basis the trade previously carried on in semi-privacy, in which he undertook to express the utmost "astonishment and regret," that she was not a fit inmate for their families. This apology might have answered, had there not been many gentlemen—and among others the Minister he succeeded—to whom this chivalrous soldier-diplomat had previously boasted of his criminal intimacy with the woman during their passage from New York—a privilege in which most of the disgusted officers and passengers of the vessel well knew he had not been alone, though the other recipients of the doubtful favor may have had more honor or more discretion than to betray the companion of their guilt.

For what services was this man appointed to the office he has thus disgraced? Certainly not for his military record, which,—however it may have stood in the newspapers,—was a farce to all military men. Was it for services on the stump in favor of a Radical Republican to be Governor of a not distant State? If so, it is for President Johnson now to determine whether these services can counterbalance the enormous "irregularity"—to use the mildest phrase,—of his conduct in this matter. We think he should be re-called forthwith.—New York Citizen.

[The conduct of Kilpatrick, while in this State, was such as to outrage the feelings of all decent people, if what we have heard of him was half true. The woman, or women, who followed him, rode in a fine carriage, slept in his camp and in the houses of gentlemen and ladies, which he took possession of for his headquarters, as we understand, were reputed not to have been his wife and her associate, but were said to have been loose women, from Columbia, S. C., and the carriage, which was appropriated to their use, was said to have been stolen from that city. These statements we have heard as coming from Federal soldiers connected with his and other commands.—Whether they are true or false, we know not, but they are believed in this State, and, on this account, the name of no officer of the Federal army is accompanied with such bad odor in North Carolina as that of Gen. Kilpatrick. If these statements are untrue and unjust to Gen. Kilpatrick, we shall be happy to correct them, for his own sake.—EDS. SENTINEL.]

The Heads of the departments in Washington having threatened to withdraw the government advertising from the Washington Chronicle, Thad. Stevens two or three months ago introduced a bill into Congress to provide for sending the Chronicle to all our consular and diplomatic agents. Soon afterwards a bill passed directing the government advertising to be given to the newspaper having the greatest circulation, it being supposed by the radicals in Congress that the Chronicle, under this rule, would obtain the advertising. It now seems that the National Intelligencer is disputing as to the amount of circulation. It says it has a daily average circulation of about 5,473, while the Chronicle has a daily average circulation of about 4,700; but the Chronicle on Sunday sends to clubs and individuals for electioneering purposes an extra thousand, and on this it claims the advertisements. The question is now under consideration by the departments. The good humor into which the controversy has precipitated the Chronicle may be inferred from the subjoined:

"We denounce what would be an insolent usurpation of official authority and a deliberate ignoring of the solemn law of the land, the attempt to add the tri-weekly of the National Intelligencer, which from its own testimony goes into the surrounding regions of Maryland and Virginia, and not in the city of Washington, to furnish a pretext to confer government patronage upon that pestilential organ of treason.—Hardly less presumptuous and reckless would be the attempt of any officer to deduct "when there seemed to be a thousand or two or three issued on a day over usual editions," to gratify a similar petty vengeance. The law is as lucid as it is just; but if any officer of the government is willing to be guided by the dishonest and malicious counsels of the National Intelligencer, for the purpose of setting that law at defiance, we shall take care that his conduct is fully ventilated."

The meaning of this is that if any officer of the government presumes to decide that the Intelligencer has a greater circulation than the Chronicle, however the fact may be, the Chronicle will exercise its ingenuity in slandering im.

(Correspondence of the Sentinel.)

NEWBERN, June 27., 1866.

Dear Sentinel:—In compliance with your request, I have concluded to drop you a few lines to let you and your numerous readers know how the world wags in these parts. The Elm City is making good her ancient claim to the distinction of being the Athens of North Carolina.—Our people are all cultivating the fine arts, from the musquitoes and niggers to the gentlemen and ladies of the first families. We have a perfect mania for music. Singing in the parlor, singing on the street, singing by night and singing by day, singing by white folks and singing by niggers, is the order of the day here. Concerts, picnics, bands, tin horns, and bass drums, glee-clubs and choirs are wonderfully popular. Even the musquitoes have caught the musical inspiration from the people or the atmosphere and suck a fellow's blood while entertaining him with a nightly serenade.

The Methodist Sunday School gave their second concert to the citizens of Newbern on last evening. There was a very large and appreciative audience out. The large and commodious building was filled to its utmost capacity with the beauty and intelligence of our city. The exercises were very interesting, and the intellectual entertainment rich and varied. The young ladies and gentlemen, together with all the dear children, performed the parts assigned them in such a way as to give great pleasure to the large and attentive audience. The exercises were very protracted, but the interest was fully sustained to the last, which gives evidence, when taken in consideration with the very handsome collection which was raised for the benefit of the school, that the efforts of the children to please and entertain the large audience present were not unappreciated.

Mr. George Wadsworth, the superintendent, and Mr. James Berry, who conducted the musical department, deserve great credit for the efficient manner in which they discharged the duties of their stations. I have heard but two criticisms on the performance that were at all unfavorable. One was that some of the pieces were theatrical, and some of the ladies made too much effort to be oratorical. But nothing of this sort ever yet pleased everybody, and the world is not getting better as regards its disposition to indulge in censure and captious criticism.

Some of our good people did not like the silence which your Senior observed in regard to his visit to our city, which was once his old home and where he has so many friends. Why you did not even say that you had been to see a body, and that we were all well! What is the matter? Your friends down here would like to know.

Some of our Rail Road men are a little excited about the probable result of the next meeting of the stock-holders. The outs are fearful and the ins are shaky. So the world wags.

You may hear from me again.

Yours, &c., C.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

IS a concentrated extract of the choice root, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has, of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:

Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this Sarsaparilla, and the patient is left in comparative health.

The Late Hon. George E. Badger.

AT A MEETING of the Judges of the Supreme Court, and the members of the bar in attendance thereon, held at the Court room of the Court, on Thursday, the 29th. inst., the following proceedings were had:

On motion of B. F. Moore, Esq., Chief Justice Pearson was chosen to preside over the meeting, and Thomas Bragg was appointed Secretary.

Mr. Moore stated that the object of the meeting was to pay some tribute of respect to the memory of the Hon. George E. Badger, late a practitioner of this bar, and moved that a committee of three be appointed by the Chairman to report resolutions; which motion was adopted, and the Hon. John H. Bryan, Judge Battle and B. F. Moore were appointed.

The committee retired, and, soon after returning, by Mr. Bryan reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we deeply deplore the loss which our country has sustained in the death of the Hon. George E. Badger.

Resolved, That in the character of the deceased were concentrated many exalted virtues and attainments, which rendered him a most excellent and useful citizen and venerable man.

Resolved, That we regard his example in all the various relations of life as of inestimable value to the youth of our country. As a man he was firm, upright and honorable; as a Christain, humble and sincere; as a statesman, pure, able and honest; as a lawyer, learned, profound and ingenuous; he enjoyed in an eminent degree the confidence and respect of this Court, where his memory will be long cherished and honored.

Resolved, That this affliction, grievous at all times, is now greatly enhanced by its occurrence at a time when our country so greatly needs the guidance and advice of her most able, illustrious and patriotic sons.

Resolved, That we respectfully tender to his bereaved family our condolence and sympathy, and that the Chairman of this meeting communicate to them a copy of these proceedings.

On motion, the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

On motion, ordered that the Secretary furnish a copy of the proceedings to the several newspapers of the city, and request their publication. Whereupon, the meeting adjourned.

R. M. PEARSON, Chairman.
THOS. BRAGG, Secretary.

REVIVAL.—We learn, from the Wilmington Dispatch, that an interesting revival is progressing in the Fifth Street M. E. Church, in that city. A number of persons have professed religion. Revs. Messrs. Peeler and Burkhead are among the laboring ministry.

A HARMLESS FALL.—The Commercial says that a young man, named Brower, from Raleigh, on Tuesday night, fell from the window of his boarding house, on Hancock street, in Newbern, while in a state of somnambulism. Strange to say, he was not injured in the least, although he fell a distance of some twenty feet. The shock of the fall, of course, aroused him, and he returned to his room as if nothing had happened.

Southern Manufactures—Venable's Snuff and Fine Cut Factory.

The true "reconstructionists" of the South are not the men who are passing their time in lamentations over their poverty and defeat; still less the men who are taxing their ingenuity to discover new bonds, guarantees and tests with which to supply the defects of a form of government hitherto proclaimed to be little short of divinely inspired. When a conflagration buries the proceeds of years of toil in a mass of useless ruins, the wise man is not he who wastes his days in lamentation over the wreck of his fortune, nor he who spends his fortune, nor he who spends his time in criticising the defects of the system by which he attained the wealth and power so suddenly swept from his hands.

It is rather he who at once addresses himself to the task of rebuilding; who, before the embers are cold, begins to clear away the rubbish, and, unappalled by the calamity which has befallen him, plans the restoration of his fortunes on a scale of greater breadth, and by the exercise of greater zeal, industry and enterprise than before.

This is the true restoration, and it applies no less to national catastrophes than to individual ones. The true friends of the South are the men who, undismayed by the private and public wreck around them, have plunged at once into the labor of reconstructing the prostrated material interests of the country, and have laid amid the smoking ruins of a wasted land the broad foundations of future prosperity.

Where these men are found they deserve the substantial sympathy and support of their fellow-citizens and of the press, and it becomes a public duty to extend to them every encouragement which lies within the power of the citizen or the lawful province of the State.—Entertaining these views, we propose from time to time to call attention in these columns to the labor of such of our citizens as have addressed themselves to the task of developing the material resources of the State, by the application of capital and skill to manufacturing pursuits.

About six months ago, James M. Venable, Esq., of this city, resolved to establish in Petersburg, a large Snuff and Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco Manufactory, superior in the completeness of its machinery and the perfection of its arrangement to anything heretofore seen at the South, and equal to any establishment in or out of it. The progress so far made demonstrates that in this resolve he is destined to succeed.

His advantages consist chiefly in the fact that he is in the heart of the market for the choicest tobacco manufactured on the globe; that he is at a point of easy and rapid communication with the great fields of first class production, and at a point of easy access to the foreign and domestic consumer. Able, also, to command an ample force of intelligent white labor, he felt encouraged to supply himself with the most perfect machinery that the ingenuity of inventors had applied to the manufacture he proposed to establish, and hoping that now, at least, the Southern people were prepared to do justice to Southern enterprise, he planned an establishment on a scale of cost and completeness which put him at once on a level with [illegible]

A three story building, 214 by 34, with a wing 70 by 18, furnishes him the room, and a handsome stationary engine of 15 horse power the necessary force, for the operation of his mill. The machinery consists of a powerful grinder capable of turning out 3000 pounds of snuff per day, a cutter chiefly for the preparation of his celebrated FINE CUT CHEWING TOBACCO, which, with its ponderous arms whirling at the rate of 750 revolutions per minute, will easily cut a thousand pounds of fine cut tobacco per day, and a complete set of the secondary machinery, stem rollers, snuff mulls, packers, &c., &c.

Finding himself embarrassed at the outset in the effort to supply himself promptly and at fair rates with the vast quantity of boxes, boxes both of paper and tin, necessary for his business, he resolved to become his own manufacturer, and now produces at the factory every box he needs, from the size of a matel box to the largest packing size used in the trade. He has recently added a heavy steel die for the construction of tin boxes, and as he has a force of carpenters always at work he is absolutely independent of outside help in all the necessary operations of his establishment from the hour the raw tobacco is received until it is ready to be shipped.—For the performance of this work one hundred and thirty to one hundred and fifty operatives are required, of whom seventy-five are females, and it is a relief to turn from the reeking atmosphere of an ordinary tobacco factory to the cleanliness and order and neatness of this.

The making of the boxes and the filling with the Fine Cut is performed by the nimble fingers of girls, whose cheerfulness and appearance of perfect health is in favorable contrast to the palhd faces we find in other departments of female employment.

Resolved to build up a business for permanent success rather than temporary profit, he has put up the grades of his own brands to a point that challenges competition with the choicest; and inasmuch as he uses a better leaf than the best brands of the Western fine cut, and supplies himself with the costliest flavoring extracts and employs the best machinery yet invented, he may confidently ask the public patronage. The claim he makes to furnish in his chewing tobacco "the softness of fine cut, a substantial chew and the natural aroma of the Virginia leaf" is sustained, wherever this favorite brand has been introduced, and a reputation no less favorable has been accorded his snuff.

A citizen who thus devotes his energy, his capital and his enterprise to the development of the interests of his State, to the opening of new avenues for labor, and the inauguration of new branches of industry, and who spends his money liberally among his own people, deserves the applause and encouragement of all who, in good faith, desire to see the South again prosperous.

COTTON BLOOM—THE CROP PROSPECT, &c.—Mr. S. M. Thomas, of Laurinburg, Richmond county, has sent us a cotton bloom which made its appearance on his plantation on the 24th. inst. In his note accompanying it are the following remarks in relation to the prospects of crops in general in his section: "Cotton is very backward in this section—and the prospect is quite gloomy, owing to heavy rains—indifferent stands and the uncertainty of labor. Under the most favorable circumstances, it would not be safe to calculate on but little more than half a crop. Corn is small but promises a fair yield. Oats firm. Wheat indifferent."—Wilmington Dispatch.

An old gentleman remarked the other day that in 1776 we went to war on account of the Stamp Act, and got the nigger; while in 1861, we went to war about the nigger and got the Stamp Act.

The Proposed National Union Convention, ---Prospective Adjournment of Congress, Illness of Mr. Washburne.

WASHINGTON, June 26.

The call for a National Union Convention, embracing delegations from all the States and this District, is now formally made by the National Union Club, with the endorsement of conservative Republican Senators. That it will be seconded in every State there is little doubt, and that it will do much towards the object of restoring the integrity and harmony of the Union is confidently believed.

Many of the interests seeking higher protection against foreign competition are disappointed at Mr. Morrill's bill. It makes some duties almost prohibitory, but does not through the whole list. The principle upon which the bill is founded invokes the ultimate prohibition of the importation of any articles that can compete with domestic production or manufacture.

There is evidence on every hand of the desire of Congress to adjourn. The committees are finishing up their business, and both Houses are clearing their calendars of a number of unimportant bills. The tariff and tax bills, and the bill for reorganizing the army, are the only important measures yet to be disposed of. The military committee of both houses were engaged to-day in perfecting a new army bill which will be acceptable to both houses. Gen. Grant is very anxious for the passage of some bill increasing the regular army at this session.

Representative E. B. Washburne, of Illinois, was taken suddenly ill with congestion of the liver during the proceedings of the House yesterday. He fainted away, and was taken to the residence of Gen. Grant, where he now lies dangerously ill.

The Constitutional Amendment.

NEW HAVEN, June 26.—The Connecticut State Senate ratified the constitutional amendment at midnight last night.

The National Intelligencer says: "The unlooked for and damaging message of the President scatters to the winds the reports that had been industriously circulated by the marplots to restore the Union, to the effect that the President and Congress were again 'harmonious.'"

GENERAL NEWS.

Mr. Stuart will deliver the anniversary address at the University of Va, on the 29th. inst, and will have for his theme, "The late Revolution, its causes, and its consequences, and the duties which result from it."

WOMEN ASKING FOR THE BALLOT IN ENGLAND.—Mr. John Stuard Mill has presented in the House of Commons a petition in favor of the extension of the suffrage to female resident householders. It was signed, he showed, by eleven hundred and fifty ladies belonging to the upper and middle classes, all of whom gave their addresses.

The exciting and protracted trial of the Commonwealth vs. McCann, Roddy, Kain, and Ramsey, for the murder of a man named Hahn, which was concluded before the Knoxville (Tenn.) Circuit Court, on Friday last, resulted in a verdict of acquittal. Hahn was, in 1861, under the judgment of a Confederate Court Martial.

They do things in a hurry in California, as witness the following programme of a "pleasant little affair": San Juan Nevada stage robbed at 5 A. M. of $3000; reward offered at 7 A. Forney gives a clue to much of the venom and falsehood that appear in his paper when he says, in a late issue: "Slander is a coward's revenge; dissimulation his defence."

We welcome the news from Fortress Monroe, of the assignment of spacious and comfortable apartments for the housekeeping of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Davis. By-and by, the farce will have become too glaring, and then he will be let go. What is the use of persisting in a cheat whereby nobody is cheated? Mr. Davis is not to be tried—at all events, not with intent or expectation of convicting him—then why is he longer subsisted at the public cost? Let us have an end of the sham.—New York Tribune.

A good story is told of Wigfall, who, at the collapse of the rebellion, fell into the vicinity of a party of Union soldiers in Texas. Being well disguised, he entered freely into conversation with the soldiers of the guard, and, in the course of the conversation, asked what they would do with old Wigfall if they were to catch him. "Oh, we would hang him certain," was the reply. "And you would serve him right," replied Wigfall. "If I should be with you, I have no doubt I should be pulling at the end of the rope myself!" The double entendre was not suspected, and its wit was therefore lost, but it is worth publishing now.

A telegram from Mobile announces that an Austrian officer has arrived at that city empowered to offer positions in the Austrian army to ex-Confederates. It is thought that quite a number will avail themselves of the opportunity to plunge again into the exciting scenes of war.

(From the Correspondence of the New York Tribune)

"I paid my respects to Gov. Holden to-day, and in the course of our conversation he cited me the facts in connection with Gens. Steedman and Fullerton's report, that where he had been quoted as stating "the Freedmen's Bureau could be dispensed with," they should have added his further remarks closing the sentence, "as soon as the Civil Rights bill was in force, and provision had been made for the destitute negro." In the reference made to him as opposed to negro voting, it was a casual remark embodied in an incident narrating the docility of the negro, illustrating the fact with "then I'm opposed to negroes voting, because, like my man there, he eagerly solicits my opinions upon all his matters; he's been with me years, and that's what they would do all over the South, not having sufficient education to move with independence of thought; and yet it is better for them and us that they are as trusting as they are."

Have we a National Disease?

However this may be, it caused me, long and severe suffering. Providentially a friend furnished me with a few boxes of the HEPATIC PILLS, and the use of them has perfected a cure. To my family they have been used frequently with eminent success. Among my acquaintances, many cases originating from diseased liver, have been relieved and cured by them. A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box fail taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the waste of delicate females. Diseases and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 41 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

COTTON GINS,

MANUFACTURED BY

W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.,

COLUMBUS, GA.

WE have received the manufacture of Cotton Gins in this city, and will be prepared to fill orders by 1st June next. As we shall not be, as heretofore, represented by traveling agents, parties wishing our Gins, will confer a favor by sending in their orders at an early day. As owing to the demand, we shall be unable to keep a stock in the hands of our local agents, as it was our practice before the war. All business transactions being now reduced to cash, our sales will be made on the basis of ready pay.

Our Gins are too well known to require any special notice or commendation; we believe they are unrivalled in the chief points of excellence which go to make up a superior machine, namely: Speed light draught and good sample.

Our DOUBLE CYLINDER GINS will be found superior to the single cylinder, when parties have steam or good water power, to give them the necessary speed. In all cases when this can be done, we recommend them in preference to the single cylinder. If, however, indifferent or insufficient power is used, they will not do as well as the single Gin.

Messrs. DeROSSET & CO., Wilmington, N. C., are our general agents for the State of North Carolina.
